

MORE BONDS COMING

Treasury Officials Know That Another Issue Must Be Made.

RESING GOLD TO THE MINT

The Raid on the Reserve Expected To Begin Any Day.

BONDS ARE BEING SOLD BY EUROPE

By This the Foreigners Make a Large Profit and Get Ready for the Next Bond Issue.

Washington, August 7.—(Special.)—It is now believed here that the hurried shipment yesterday of $10,000,000 in gold bullion from the New York subtreasury to the Philadelphia mint for immediate coinage, presages another raid on the gold reserve. The Rothschild-Belmont bond syndicate has abandoned the treasury and it is again at the mercy of the Wall street gold gamblers. They can force another bond issue now as soon as they desire.

The treasury officials realize the hopelessness of the situation and the immediate coinage of the gold bullion shows that they expect the operation of the endless chain of drainage of gold by means of greenbacks and treasury notes—made redeemable in gold by President Cleveland's orders—to recommence.

By the sale of gold bonds the reserve was forced up to $107,571,229 on July 9th last, and it dwindled slightly until July 27th, when it was $105,454,811. The next day it took a big jump, through the aid of the bond syndicate, and rose to $107,321,673. Since then the reserve has shown a steady falling until today it is stated at $104,468,194, without taking into account the $10,000,000 in gold withdrawn from the New York subtreasury today. The bond syndicate having paid for its bonds no longer feel under any legal obligation to assist in the protection of the government gold balance, and the recent shipments of gold are noted as an indication of the truth of this statement.

Private advices from New York say that the mercantile community, which, for some weeks, has been shipping gold instead of making remittances through the aid of the bankers, has discovered that it can save from $500 to $1,000 on each $100,000 owed in Europe, and additional mercantile firms are daily going back to the old and original method of sending out cash gold to pay their bills.

This is the logical result of the action of the bond syndicate which, for months past, has kept the gold here. For going this for six months it charged the United States $8,000,000. It will soon be ready to repeat this service for a like sum. Another rumor on the street was that the foreign holders of United States bonds are selling these securities in New York. A report was current that one house in New York had sold $5,000,000 of the new issue of government bonds for foreign holders, to be delivered in the future.

STRONG VS. ROOSEVELT.

There Seems To Be A Lack of Harmony Between Them.

New York, August 7.—The Evening Sun publishes the following: Mayor Strong held a conference yesterday with President Roosevelt, regarding the enforcement of the excise laws. When the mayor, Mr. Roosevelt, the mayor, it is said, distinctly requested the president of the police board to order a general halt and to the mayor's surprise, Mr. Roosevelt declined to do so. In a word he refused point blank to change his views on the enforcement of the excise law.

The politicians behind Strong will now try to induce Goodman's plan and shift the responsibility for the enforcement of the excise laws to the president of the police board. Alderman Goodman offered an excise resolution at the board meeting yesterday which was directed to the aldermanic committee on excise to give public hearing on the Sunday closing question and then draft an excise or local option bill for presentation to the legislature at the opening of the next session. The committee has not yet fixed a date for a public hearing on the question.

President Roosevelt declined to say anything of his interview with Mayor Strong and his reported call on him in regard to his enforcement of the excise law. "I could deny it, if I would," he said, "but I don't want to say anything that will bring up a discussion of it."

National Republican Conference. Columbia, S. C., August 7.—E. M. Brayton, the South Carolina member of the national republican executive committee, when asked a representative of the Southern Associated Press to state his preference of places for holding of the national republican convention, stated that he had been flooded with letters in the interest of no end of cities, but with the lights before him he preferred New York City.

He has no preference between these two cities, and will vote for that one offering the best inducements.

New Governor General for Cuba. London, August 7.—The Post tomorrow will publish a dispatch from Madrid saying that General Lopez has been selected to become governor general of Cuba.

Horror and Warner Debate. Lakeland, O., August 7.—The silver debate took place here yesterday between Hon. R. G. Horr and General A. J. Warner. They were greeted both morning and afternoon with a large and intelligent audience consisting extensively of voters. It was impossible to decide the direction in which the sympathies of the audience lay, equally followed by laughter and applause.

INDEMNITY PROBABLY DEMANDED. State Department Knows Little of the Massacre of Missionaries.

Washington, August 7.—No detailed information about the massacre of missionaries in China has reached the state department excepting through the press, but the several messages from Consul General Jernstedt have given enough to warrant the state department to send cables to Mr. Denby, our minister at Peking, to secure protection from the Chinese government for the American missionaries and their property in the places where the trouble has occurred or is imminent. The United States has been requested to make of the Chinese naval force in China can do nothing to protect American citizens, because Kucheng

Blacks Are Hunting Those of Their Race Who Were Mugged by the Italians. Their Homes Open To Them.

Princeton, Ill., August 7.—The war on negroes by the Italians of Spring Valley has been declared over. The Spring Valley Coal Company will be permitted to resume operations and the negroes will return to their homes. This action was taken today at a mass meeting of all the white miners, which assembled in the public square. About 500 miners were present, the largest part of whom were English-speaking. Interpreters were present for the Italians and French.

A resolution was offered to the effect that the miners of Spring Valley would recognize the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, which guarantees to every person equal liberties, without regard to race, color or previous condition of servitude, and that the miners of Spring Valley would pledge their earnest support to all officers in the enforcement of the law.

"BUFFALO BILL" WAS COOL.

He Handled His Men Well and Prevented a Stampede.

Olean, N. Y., August 7.—(Special.)—Buffalo Bill's personal coolness and commanding personality, combined with the discipline of his men caused the wild west column expedition at Olean yesterday to result in very little damage to property or persons. There were 12,000 people stricken here in a regular Iowa cyclone and lake hurricane combined held in comparative order, the band playing the "Star Spangled Banner," rough riders, cowboys, soldiers, Cossacks, Indians as obedient to Cody's orders as if in parade. The performance was complete and a fine show was given. At 11 o'clock today everything was in apple pie order and great crowds. Buffalo Bill had added another proof of the qualities needed in an emergency. He is all right.

THE JAMAICA ORANGE CROP.

The Boston Fruit Company Has Cornered the Crop.

Jacksonville, Fla., August 7.—The British steamer Jason, Captain Frazier, will sail from here tomorrow for Jamaica, carrying a cargo of orange boxes material and also many expert orange pickers and packers. These orange pickers and packers are the employees of Williams & Hubbard, of the Boston Fruit Company, which has cornered the Jamaica orange crop for years to come, or until they expect that the Florida trees will be in bearing condition again and knock out trust prices. A shrewd piece of business was done by this company. The monied men of the firm and a business man thoroughly alive to every point of advantage hurried over to Jamaica immediately after the Florida freeze and secured leases of a large number of bearing orange groves. These leases were obtained for a period of three years.

MISS FLAGLER GIVES BAIL.

The Sum Is Fixed at $10,000—She Is Released.

Washington, August 7.—Miss Elizabeth M. Flagler, the daughter of General Flagler, chief of ordinance of the United States army who accidentally killed Ernest Green, a colored boy of this city, last week, chemically ascertained herself to the wardens of the district jail this afternoon, awaiting the action of the grand jury. At the same time she appeared before Judge Cole, of the criminal court, and was admitted to bail in the sum of $10,000. When court had been formally opened, Assistant District Attorney Taggart stated that in view of the character of the finding of the coroner's jury it would be necessary to submit the case to the grand jury. Miss Flagler's attorney, Mr. Perry, remarked that while the verdict of the coroner's jury was not a complete exoneration of the crime, it was technically a finding for manslaughter. He added that his client was in court and ready to furnish bail in any sum that might be demanded. Judge Cole stated that he had read the evidence and that the case was a balable one, and that $10,000 would be sufficient. This was satisfactory to the assistant district attorney, whereupon John Cassels and General Robert MacFesty qualified as sureties.

FIRE AT MERIDIAN.

An Ice Factory and Feed Works Badly Damaged.

Meridian, Miss., August 7.—(Special.)—One of the most destructive fires that ever occurred in this city took place this afternoon. About 3:30 o'clock the old Jones house, at one time Meridian's best hostelry, on the corner of Fifth street and Twenty-sixth avenue, caught fire from the roof. The fire was promptly extinguished with only slight damage. A family had the engine returned before another alarm was turned in. The time the plants of the John Kamper ice factory and Soule steam feed works, both in the same building, were on fire. The steam feed plant was almost entirely destroyed and the ice factory was badly damaged. The latter concern was insured for $5,000 in Chicago companies. There was no insurance on the plant of the John Kamper feed works, which is virtually a total loss. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed that the Jones house caught from the ice factory.

BURNED WHILE ASLEEP.

Four Children Burned to Death and the Fifth Fatally Injured.

Whitesboro, Ky., August 7.—News of a horrible accident reached here last night from Big Stone Gap, Va., on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, in which four children were burned to death and their parents and another child fatally injured. Eli Hix, a laborer, went to his home near the spot while drunk, and not finding his wife and children at home went to an adjoining cooking room and built a fire in the stove. While asleep on the floor he caught from the stove and soon spread to a sleeping room occupied by Mrs. Hix and her children, who were asleep. Four of the younger children were burned to a crisp before the mother awoke. Although badly burned herself, she made her escape through a window and carried one of the children to the street. The mother and the building, but not before he was fatally burned.

In the Olympic mountains many thousands acres of valuable timber is burning.

The City Council in Contempt.

Omaha, Neb., August 7.—The contempt case against the city council for refusing to obey the telegraphic injunction of Judge Howell, in the police board trouble, was decided in court this morning. The judge found the council guilty of contempt, but dismissed them for the reason that the offense was excusable under the circumstances. The injunction matter is still being argued.

Chicago, August 7.—Dr. George F. Root, known throughout the United States as a music composer and the author of well-known songs, died yesterday afternoon at Bailey's island, off Portland, Me., where he went last June to spend the summer. He was in perfect health when he went to Maine.

Killed by an Explosion.

Richmond, Va., August 7.—By the explosion of a soda water generator at Gonella Bros' store, 221 East Broad street this morning, Peter Marchetto, aged 42 years, was so badly injured that he died in ten minutes, and his brother, Louis, aged twenty-three, was slightly hurt. Both the young men were natives of Italy and nephews and employees of the Gonellas.

CATHOLIC TEMPLARS IN SESSION.

Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, Talks on Temperance.

New York, August 7.—The formal opening of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America took place this morning in Columbus hall, which will be the headquarters of the convention. When Father J. M. Cleary, who is general president of this organization, called the convention to order at 9 o'clock about six hundred delegates were on hand. Father Callahan, of the Paulist church, opened the convention with prayer. Then the committee on credentials was appointed. J. Monahan was appointed sergeant-at-arms and Walter Fitzmaurice, of Connecticut, and Mary Dooherty, of Pittsburgh, were appointed assistant secretaries.

The delegates then marched to the cathedral, where a solemn pontifical mass was celebrated by Monsignor Batelli, Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, preaching the sermon. Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, in the course of his sermon said:

"Modern temperance movements have been of two kinds—the purely humanitarian, laying in view only the temporal advantages of body and mind to be attained by the practice of temperance, and the religious, which is based on the belief that human means for this purpose. Such movements have their mission, and Catholics ought to stand with their fellow citizens in every effort for temperance education. Sometimes, however, the poison of false principles may be detected in these organizations."

"The second class of temperance movement is that to which the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America belongs, which is at once humanitarian and religious."

"To effect great popular moral reforms, the religious element in men's thought, science power within him must be appealed to. You cannot legislate him into morality. Morality requires a sacrifice of selfishness and sacrifice of selfishness requires a motive, and religion alone can furnish the adequate motive. You may seek to strike at the saloon and urge men to pass it as the Greeks passed the temples of their furia without looking, without speaking, without breathing; you may enact the most stringent laws against Sunday drinking and create a powerful public opinion, which will brand as disgraceful the slightest abuse of alcoholic drinks."

"All these influences may act as breakwaters against the tide of intemperance and thus do some good. But the tide will flow into some other channels. The so-called 'weak-knee' will succeed the saloon and the private drinking, perhaps to greater excess, will succeed the public indulgence."

The first business session began at 3 o'clock p. m.

J. Washington Longue, of Philadelphia, first vice president of the union, read his report. He recommended that the lecturing system should be extended as much as possible by the local branches of the union, that temperance literature be disseminated widely in every place and that total abstinence societies be started in every parish.

President Cleary then read his report.

After dwelling at some length on the object of the society, he said:

"With our ever-increasing advantages of education and mental culture, with the school houses within sight of every man's door anxiously inviting all the children of men to drink at the fountain of knowledge, there need not be, and there should not be, a poor man's child in all this fair land cursed with the darkness of ignorance, were not for the beastliness of intemperance that brutalizes the lives of the poor."

"It is the ceaseless dripping that wears away the granite boulder. It is the constant patronage from the pockets of the unfortunate that enriches the saloon keepers' pockets and binds the drinker in hopeless poverty and sin. It is the wild boisterous dissipation of the reckless inebriate that wears the greatest injury to the social condition of the masses. That extravagant form of the drink curse is rapidly disposed of, and the unhappy wretch sinks into an untimely and dishonored grave. It is the habitual drinking habit among those who are chosen as models in the saloon, that works the greatest mischief in the lives of the people. This it is that drains the poor man's purse and prevents the child of penury from obtaining the education which our progressive civilization affords."

"It is not the sin of drunkenness alone that our grand organization is prepared to combat. Our far-reaching purpose is to aid in correcting the foolish drinking customs of a society, to make practices of intemperance popular, and to brand with odium the indefensible and dangerous social customs that are a stumbling block to the weak and temptation to all. The joyous acclaim to which the people of every class and creed greet our work today at its jubilee rejoicings is gratifying testimony to the success it has gained."

"Our church has again and again voiced its convictions in no uncertain terms. There can be no affiliation between the church and the saloon. The church will not and cannot permit that the drinking den shall flourish beneath the shadow of the sacred house of prayer. A man cannot be a good catholic, a faithful and docile child of the church and continue in an intemperate business of conducting a liquor saloon."

"America must be rescued from the slavery of the drink curse, and the church, in this latest field for her work, must win this glorious land to the intelligent service of God by the lovelessness of her children's lives."

The silver jubilee parade, which was held tonight, was a grand spectacle, and the line of march was thronged with crowds of spectators. Fully 3,000 people were in Carnegie hall and the immense auditorium was filled by delegates from the various cities and a number of priests and laymen delivered addresses. On the stage, which was draped with banners of the various cities, were Archbishop of Baltimore, M. A. Corrigan, of New York; Mayor Strong; Bishop John J. Ryan, of New York; the Catholic university at Washington, D. C.; the Most Rev. P. J. Ryan, archbishop of Philadelphia, and Monsignor Bessolles, of Indianapolis.

Police Commissioner Roosevelt and Mayor Strong were among the speakers. Mr. Roosevelt's topic was the enforcement of the excise laws of the state.

DEFENDING THE DISPENSARY LAW

There is Nothing in Sight Now To Interfere with the Constitutional Convention Being Held Next Month.

Columbia, S. C., August 7.—Senator Tillman's presidential bid is buzzing loudly, and the "Andrew Jackson" of South Carolina is not holding it by a string. Yesterday afternoon the great reformer left for New York, where he is to put himself in the hands of the National Prohibition Association for several days. Tomorrow night he will meet Chairman Dickey, of the executive committee of the association, in debate on the question: "Is State Control the Best Method of Promoting Temperance Reform?" Senator Tillman will uphold the affirmative side of the question. The debate will be held at Prohibition park.

On Friday night he will debate the question of strict prohibition with ex-Governor St. John, of Kansas, who will present the affirmative side of the matter.

On Sunday he will deliver a lecture at Asbury park, under the auspices of the Westminster Presbyterian church, on the South Carolina liquor law. Returning homeward, he will stop at Concord, N. C., to make an address on the financial question, at the request of the people of that

IOWA'S CONVENTION.

Goldbugs Have Their Own Way in a Republican State.

Marshalltown, Ia., August 7.—The democratic state convention was called to order by Chairman Howard at 10:30 o'clock this morning. There were nearly 1,000 delegates present. Temporary Chairman Nathaniel French, of Davenport, was presented and addressed the convention.

Nothing was done after the conclusion of Chairman French's speech at the forenoon session except routine business. The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock p. m. The majority of the committee on permanent organization recommended J. H. Shields, of Dubuque, for permanent chairman. C. H. Mackey, of Sigourney, for the minority, reported the name of S. L. Bestow, of Charleston. Shields represented the gold standard element and Bestow the free silver men. The ballot on the motion to substitute the minority report was the first test of strength. It resulted against the substitution of the minority report—420 against 652. The goldbugs received the announcement with protracted cheering. Mr. Shields accepted the gavel as permanent chairman and made a brief address, in which he did not refer to the money question.

The following platform was adopted: "The democratic party of Iowa, in con-

He entered Iowa Wesleyan university, at Mount Pleasant, and in 1882 entered and served two years in the union army. Returning he finished his university course, studied law and came down to practice his profession in Mount Pleasant, where he has since resided. He has been successful at the bar and has twice been elected to the bench in a district strongly republican, largely because of his personal popularity. He is in demand as a lecturer. He is widely known in Iowa through his work in connection with the Methodist church.

WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Texas Convention Opened the Unwilling Eyes of the Convention.

Fort Worth, Tex., August 7.—The democratic silver convention adjourned this morning at an early hour this morning. Resolutions were passed in favor of free coinage of silver at 16 to 1, independent of international agreement and condemning the financial policy of the present administration. About 1,000 delegates were present.

HON. JOHN T. REAGAN.

ent, which was a surprise to those who predicted a small attendance. A sensation was created by a motion that a complete list of the delegates be made out in order to give the lie to those newspapers which had been saying and which would continue to say that the silver conventions were made up chiefly of republicans, negroes and populists, with a slight sprinkling of democrats. Ex-United States Senator Reagan addressed the convention and congratulatory telegrams were read from Senators Morgan, of Alabama, Jones, of Arkansas, and Congressman Bland, chairman of the Missouri democratic convention at Pettie Springs.

Governor Culberson, Senator Chilton and Reagan all spoke for the free coinage of silver.

AGREEMENT REACHED.

Steamboat Whistles Made Enough Noise To Attract A Large Crowd.

Chicago, August 7.—The triangular fight which has been going on for the three days between the Illinois Central Railroad Company, the steamboat owners and the city, resulted today, after considerable excitement, in an agreement by the railroad company to build immediately a temporary viaduct across their tracks at Van Buren street, and to permit the public to have free access to the lake over the tracks at all times. The company also agrees to depress the tracks two and a half feet, but the final arrangements will not be made until August 25, when President Fish, who is now out of the city, will return.

Shortly after 4 o'clock the excursion steamer Macataway, from Windsor Park, and fifty persons at the Van Buren street dock. The special officers of the Illinois Central refused to allow them to cross the tracks and a long train of freight cars was drawn across the right-of-way. The Macataway immediately started blowing her whistle and other boats in the dock joined, creating a deafening uproar. The noise speedily attracted a crowd to the lake front, at least 10,000 people coming in haste from all directions in anticipation of a riot.

The police were notified and Captain Koch, with two lieutenants and a squad of policemen were soon on the scene. The captain endeavored to silence the boat whistles and sent Lieutenant Preston on board the steamer. The captain of the boat refused to stop the whistles and Lieutenant Preston proceeded to arrest him. The captain of the boat seized an ax to defend himself, drove the officer ashore and immediately pulled out into the lake. The indignant crowd caused by the blowing of the whistles continued. The police fired up and the smoke emitted choked and blinded the officers, boatmen and the constantly increasing crowd of spectators. The women engaged in tearing down the old viaduct were unable to hear or do see their way about the big structure, and ceased work for the day.

After a long parley among the Illinois Central police, the city officials and the Chicagoans, the passengers from the boat were allowed to land and proceeded along the tracks to Randolph street, where they were permitted to reach a street. When this was done the boats ceased their whistling and further trouble was averted. At 6 o'clock the steamboat men were informed that passengers could cross the tracks without hindrance and that a temporary viaduct would be placed in position by noon tomorrow. At the conference the Illinois Central officials and the city officials agreed to construct a temporary viaduct, which should be in position within twenty-four hours, and in the meantime passengers would be allowed free access to the steamboat dock.

To Arrest The Postoffice Thieves.

Montreal, August 7.—It is almost certain that the postoffice thieves, Killoran, Allen and Russell, who held up the guards at the Ludlow street jail, New York city, and escaped to Canada, are at Sorel Island, a short distance below Montreal, in company with a band of smugglers. The secretary of the treasury department sent this interesting item to the chief of police at Three Rivers and asked his advice in capturing the three fugitives. The chief telegraphed that he would leave immediately for Sorel Island, where he would intensify his search. Photographs of the three men were mailed to Three Rivers today. An organized band of burglars are known to have their rendezvous in that vicinity, but the authorities have never been able to capture them.

EVIDENCE AGAINST HOLMES.

A Chicago Hotel Clerk Says Holmes Is The "Mysterious Hatch."

Chicago, August 7.—F. B. Little, night clerk at the Grand hotel here, has identified a picture of Mrs. Pletsch as that of the woman who was a guest at the West End hotel October 8th with Holmes and the two Pletsch girls. If Little is not mistaken the mysterious Hatch referred to by Holmes as having had the first custody of the children is Holmes himself, although the local police do not believe the female companion of Holmes at that time was Mrs. Pletsch. Little says that he saw Holmes and the children during their stay at the hotel. He also traced Holmes to a picture of Holmes as that of the man who seemed so anxious to keep the existence of his little prisoners a secret. Detective Geyer, of Philadelphia, has also traced Holmes to the hotel on that date.

A PURE SWINDLE.

Strong Evidence Is Brought Out Against the Beaufort Conspirators.

INSURED NEVER SAW THEIR POLICIES.

One at Least Even Opposed It, but Was Insured Over Her Objection—The Case Drags on Slowly.

Beaufort, N. C., August 7.—(Special.)—The insurance cases are being tried with distressing slowness and the testimony is still the same. Witnesses swear to fraud and that their names were signed to papers without their knowledge or consent. Others swear that insurance was obtained upon their lives without their knowledge. If the testimony is true frauds have been committed without doubt. It is a mere question of credibility of witnesses.

Emily J. Casey was put on the stand today and stated that she is seventy-three years old, has asthma, heart trouble, coughs up blood and weighed one hundred pounds about three years ago. She never made application, was never examined and has never had possession of a policy. Fisher held the policy which stated that she was only fifty years old and in good health. Fisher offered her daughter $1 to sign a paper as a witness.

John Skarren and Lewis, of Beaufort, testified that they knew Nevada Williams. They said she looked like a sick woman. Others stated that they had seen Sam Williams and the negro, Wigfall, often together, and had also seen the two after talking with Levi Knox.

Barney Davis stated that he did not sign his name to a policy, but told Wigfall he could sign his name as witness.

Mrs. Stewart on the stand stated that she had been married twice. She married Arthur six years ago. Arthur had been badly afflicted for three years with bowel complaint and only weighed about eighty pounds. He was not able to do any work at all while he lived at Morehead. She said that she was opposed to this insurance on her husband. She also gave the names of several who were interested in the insurance on his life. The names were Solomon and Clarence Simpson, Smith, Lee, Fulcher and others. She said all promised to divide the money with her except Simpson.

At the close of the examination, a Mrs. Lewis was taken ill and caused quite a sensation in the courtroom. She had to be removed.

AGAINST STATE AID.

North State Baptists Making a Fight On The State University.

Raleigh, N. C., August 7.—(Special.)—The executive committee of the State Farmers' Alliance is called to meet here next Monday to prepare reports and outline business for the annual all-States meeting at Cary, N. C., next day. Hon. Tillman, or Congressman Sibley will deliver an address during the convention.

The Baptists are again discussing at the session of each of their main associations the question of state aid to the university, and each association will be forced to go on record. The matter is to be carried into politics, it is alleged. The man who is speaking the fight today is the legislative committee on education that he would put the question before the people.

The great annual yearly meeting of friends began today at High Point. Quite a number of Quakers from the western states are in attendance.

A report made today shows that North Carolina has 124 convicts. The number is now smaller than at any other season of the year. The inspection of all the convict camps began today. Four of these are on farms leased by the state.

The grand encampment of Odd Fellows met at Charlotte this evening.

Parlor Souther of the Washington colony in Burke county, writes that soon some more families will come from Italy and join the colony. There is a factory, the general plan of which has been approved, which does not pay, and it will be moved to another place.

Fine rains fell last night and broke the drought in the Piedmont section.

Over $700,000, but the direct tax fund of $400,000 which was paid to the state by the United States several years ago, was turned over to the public school fund.

In future all payments will be made out of the general fund, but applications must be made as heretofore to the executive department and approved by the governor.

The governor appoints as delegates to the "half-cent" national convention at Detroit, August 20th, Rev. R. W. Boyd, S. W. Reed, A. G. Finkens, Mrs. Lila Ripley and Mrs. Fanny Hayes.

Governor Carr cannot attend the dedication of the Chickamauga and Chattanooga National Military parks and appoints to represent North Carolina W. V. Perrott, J. G. Hall, D. F. Baird and Isaac, R. Bailey, all of whom were in the battle; also John P. Lilley, who takes the place of his father, Colonel Clinton A. Lilley, United States army, who could not attend.

One Dead.

Raleigh, N. C., August 7.—E. W. Durham, one of the passengers in the caboose of the freight train at Haw river, which was telegraphed by the freight's special train, died today. His legs were broken and his spine injured. His brother, J. W. Durham, has a bad fracture of the rear of his skull, but will recover. Both are residents of Chapel Hill.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS CONFERENCE.

They Discuss the Situation and Arrange To Give Assistance.

Washington, August 7.—Senator Charles R. Faulkner, of West Virginia, chairman of the democratic congressional committee; Hon. Chauncey R. Black, of Pennsylvania, president of the National League of Democratic Clubs; Lawrence Gardner, of Washington, secretary of both organizations, and several other democratic workers met in Washington today for the purpose of devising means to help the party in those states which hold elections this fall. The situation in each state was discussed and it was arranged to assist the democratic organization of league clubs and in other ways. The present strained situation in Maryland was taken up and an agreement reached that everything possible should be done to bring together the warring factions of the party and make earnest efforts to organize campaign clubs to stimulate interest in the success of the ticket nominated in Baltimore.

Accident to a Torpedo Boat.

London, August 7.—The Portsmouth Mail says that after a run of one of the torpedo boat destroyers last week, on which occurred the prince of Wales and the duke of York were on the boat. It was discovered, a few minutes after their royal highnesses had landed, that the furnace arched was badly cracked. If the crack had occurred when the boat was at full speed her boiler would have burst.

The Pall Mall Gazette says that the boat was the Charger, and that the break occurred last Thursday. There were a number of distinguished officers on board of her at the time. When driven at full speed the boat made twenty-seven knots an hour. Gun trials were to have been made aboard her on the day the accident occurred, but they were postponed.

ASKS FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. J. J. Brown, of Chattanooga, Brings Suit Against Her Husband.

THE CASE CAUSES A SENSATION

Brown Was Too Fond of Women Not of His Own Family—A Bank Attaches His Property.

Chattanooga, Tenn., August 7.—(Special.)—Trouble, great stacks of trouble, swooped down like a thunder cloud and enveloped the fortunes of J. J. Brown, a prominent merchant and alderman from the sixth ward, today.

To begin with, his wife, Mrs. Henrietta B. Brown, whom he married at Marietta on October 25, 1871, since which time they have been living in Chattanooga, filed a suit for divorce. The paper has been in chancery court for several days. Mr. Brown begged her with tears in his eyes to withdraw it, but she would not.

It is the rarest divorce bill filed here for a decade. The wife charges her husband with half the crimes in the decalogue. She alleges that he has at divers times and places been intimate with lewd women; that such reports had come to her ears, but that she had not believed them until May 7th last, upon which date she attended a picnic at LaFayette, Ga., where the defendant is alleged to have carried two women of questionable character, named Allie Blackford and Ada Burke, and that defendant afterwards took the former woman unto himself as his mistress, even going so far, she alleges, as to take the woman into his home on the night of June 1st, from which place she did not depart until the dawn.

In these habits, Mrs. Brown alleges that her husband has gone from bad to worse, and become at last so completely infatuated with bad women as to entirely neglect his wife and several lovely daughters, having failed for a long time to give them more than the bare necessities of life.

Furthermore, she alleges that her husband has treated her cruelly and upon one occasion treated her so that she was compelled to leap through the window and flee for her life.

As if this was not enough trouble for one day, the Chattanooga Savings bank, hearing of the bill filed, themselves entered suit and prayed for an attachment on all of the defendant's property, which is of considerable value, and prayed that a receiver be appointed to sell same for the purpose of protecting the bank on notes it holds against Brown, alleging that he was preparing to fraudulently dispose of said property. The family is prominent and the affair is a great sensation, particularly as it was entirely unexpected.

PATTON'S PLANS ACCEPTED.

A Chattanooga Architect Is the Successful Man-Neighbors Fight.

Chattanooga, Tenn., August 7.—(Special.)—L. M. Patton, a Chattanooga architect, has been notified that his plans were adopted today by the state penitentiary commission for the new penitentiary to be erected near Harrison, which is to have 500 cells and to cost $300,000.

George Plummer and Dave Hartman live just across the river. They are farmers and their farms adjoin. Each man raises hogs. Plummer's hogs got in Hartman's field. Hartman went out with a shotgun to kill them. Plummer went out to prevent them being killed. The two men met and fought. Plummer beat Hartman nearly to death. His condition is serious. Plummer was bound over to court.

A reward of $100 is offered for the arrest of Hugh McNulty, the society youth who swindled his friends and employer, L. D. Drewery, a few weeks ago.

Killed at a Melon Festival.

Knoxville, Tenn., August 7.—Joe Asquith, aged twenty-three, was killed by Harmon Michaels, aged sixteen, at a watermelon festival in this city tonight. They, with other young men, were throwing melon rinds at one another. Asquith became offended at Michaels and they quarreled. After some hot words Asquith turned away and left Michaels. When only six feet away Michaels threw a stone, which, striking Asquith at the base of the skull, broke his neck, causing instant death. Michaels is under arrest.

Will Continue the Boycott.

Knoxville, Tenn., August 7.—The executive committee of the Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association held an all-day session today. They refuse to give out any publication other than that the boycott will be continued over the Louisville and Nashville railroad. President Leigh will reply to the recent interview with Vice President Knott, of the Louisville and Nashville.

The Flood Still at Large.

Knoxville, Tenn., August 7.—(Special.)—Over fifty officers have been scouring the woods between Knoxville and the Queen and Crescent railroad since Sunday for the negro fiend who assaulted a little fourteen-year-old girl named Myrtle Rex, but he has not been found.

Clearing House at Knoxville.

Knoxville, Tenn., August 7.—The Knoxville Clearing House Association was organized by the bankers of this city today. H. T. Ault was elected president; W. S. Shields, vice president, and E. C. Oates, cashier.

NAVAL EVOLUTIONS.

Greatest Programme Ever Attempted in This Country.

Washington, August 7.—The inauguration of a series of naval evolutions and strategic maneuvers greater than ever attempted before in this country was marked today by the departure of the cruisers New York, Montgomery and Cincinnati from New York to Newport. For the next two months these vessels, with several others belonging to the north Atlantic squadron, will execute a marine programme, extending from Maine Roads, Va., to Halifax, N. S., which will include a strategic attack on New York and the working out of a number of problems prepared by the naval war college.

On their arrival at Newport, the vessels which left New York today will be joined by the Raleigh and the dispatch boat Dolphin. Evolutions in naval tactics will be the first business of Admiral Bunker's fleet and these will extend to Portland, Me. Secretary Herbert will probably accompany the fleet for that distance.

The battleship Texas will be placed in commission August 15th and will join the squadron immediately thereafter. If the Columbia proves to have sustained no injury from her recent docking experience at Southampton, she also will be sent to join Admiral Bunker when she comes out of the dry dock at Brooklyn. The cruiser Minneapolis will go to Newport in a few days, and it is possible that the monitor Amphitrite will follow. If the battleship Maine is completed in time, she, too, will be added to the fleet.

The programme of evolution has not been fully prepared, but it will be necessarily kept secret in order to carry out the intention of the admiral and the war college—to conduct a campaign such as would prevail during a war with foreign vessels endeavoring to capture cities along the Atlantic coast.

Sciatic Rheumatism

In the fall caused me very much suffering. I was fast breaking down and did not rest unless opiate were used. I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla after the third bottle I was free from pain. I trust my farm work and am very grateful for the benefit I received.

MRS. GARDNER LOCATED.

Says She Is Not Inmate and Hopes To Return Home.

Norwich, Conn., August 7.—Mrs. M. Gardner, of Arcadia, Neb., the Christian Endeavor delegate, was located in this city last night by J. W. Lander, who has been pursuing the search for Mrs. Gardner arrived in Norwich, Boston on July 16th and registered at the Connecticut summer school as Doris Mansfield. At the close of the school she went to the home of Edward R. Lander and has for ten days been employed as a domestic there. Mrs. Mansfield was identified as Mrs. Gardner by Mrs. Lander last night. She acknowledged her identity and says she has written to her husband and that she will not return home. She says her husband accused her of being insane, but she does not think so. She appears to be well and in full possession of her faculties. She says she is now in the Norwich free academy for the purpose of studying in the fall. She is shadowing Mr. Lander's house to see if she can escape Mrs. Gardner. Her husband is expected to arrive here from the west Thursday.

On Her Way Home.

Mrs. Anna M. Gardner left for Chicago at 3 o'clock this afternoon in company with J. W. Lander, of Arcadia, Neb., who has been pursuing the search for her.

Mrs. Gardner said yesterday that she would not return home, but today she said she would. She said she was in a mission house and had gained her confidence, led her to her desire to see her baby and finally her to consent to go to the home of her mother, Mrs. Burr, of St. Louis. Mrs. Gardner will meet her husband at Palmer house, Chicago, at 9 o'clock last night. Her condition today is greatly changed from that of yesterday.

The Trial of Lander and the Disposition of Her Past History, which she said she had buried, have completely changed her.

She complained about her head today. She said she could not keep it straight. She is no doubt that she is suffering from a disordered mind, although the fact she has made during her stay here has discovered many signs of unusualness. Lander said before leaving Norwich that Mrs. Gardner would undoubtedly be in a sanitarium, as she was suffering from a mild form of insanity, as the result of the discovery of a far more serious being a poor farmer. She is a bright and was well educated and was fitted for a teacher. She is but twenty-eight years of age and has been married eight years.

Healy to McCarthy.

Dublin, August 7.—Mr. Timothy Healy has addressed to Mr. Justin McCarthy a reply to the latter's manifesto a two weeks ago in which he details his position, justifies his actions, repudiates the charges made against him and declares that what he said at Omagh he will adhere to. In the letter Mr. Healy says that he will not, nor the Irish party, any human authority will secure from either a withdrawal of the words I said at Omagh or an apology for them.

Killed by a Horse.

Ocala, Fla., August 7.—While on a home last night Mr. Samuel Howell, who was attached to a road cart, was kicked, one foot striking Mr. Howell in the head and fracturing the skull. Mr. Howell will probably die.

HOW IT FEELS TO SMOOTHER.

To Learn the Sensations.

In Chicago the other day Walter Williams and Frank Williams were touring the city, while sitting in the rear of O. A. Heala & Co.'s jewelry store, 670 West Madison street. All the details had been recalled one by one and the conversation had been recalled one by one. Williams was telling of the sensations of the different methods of smothering. He said he had heard that the feeling was being smothered was not as bad as smothering, and his curiosity led him to try it. Williams was nothing loath to try the experiment suggested by Barnes, and he latter climbed into the big steel safe and turned up the shallow vacancy between the row of drawers and the door. Williams was heavily swung shut and Williams was the lever that forces it into its place. Williams did not pull the lever clear over, but he heard the door when he heard the faintly calling to him to open the door. A few minutes later, it could not be moved. Williams jerked and tugged at the door while the perspiration came out of his face. He heard Barnes begging for help. Williams was called from a back room to the store, and in a moment he was with Williams upon the door handle. Williams saw that no two men could open the door, and, rushing to the vault door, he began an assault upon the vault door. The rope was fastened upon the handle and everybody pulled. The door would not budge a hair's breadth. A crowd of men gathered and a vain attempt was made to pry the door open.

Are you there yet, Walter?

Williams asked, too badly scared to say what he was saying.

Barnes could make no reply. He was badly in need of a breath of fresh air when Mr. Heala grabbed a wrench and ran to the store to get the door open.

Dr. McIntosh, of the Penitentiary Department, Called on Her.

THE ROPE BOUGHT TO HANG HER

The Party Who Gave Will Green's Movements Away Is Keeping Quiet, but He Wants to Share the Reward.

Macon, Ga., August 7. (Special.)—Dr. T. M. McIntosh, principal physician state penitentiary, arrived in Macon Monday night and registered at the Brown house. He left the city the next day. During his stay he called on Mrs. Nobles at her home. Nobles knew who he was and it was only by chance that The Constitution's correspondent learned that he had been to see Mrs. Nobles. It is said that the principal physician made the visit to Mrs. Nobles at the request of Governor Atkinson to ascertain her mental condition, as one of the pleas that will be urged upon the governor why he should commute her sentence to life imprisonment, is that she is half-witted. Dr. McIntosh visited her as an expert. It is not known what report he will render to the governor.

For Alderman.
It is stated positively that Mr. H. Clay Holt, a popular conductor of the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad, will be a candidate for alderman from the sixth ward at the ensuing election. His friends are urging him to run and he will make a splendid race, and, if elected, will render the city faithful and efficient service.

Shannon May Run.
Mr. S. D. Shannon, of Twiggs county, is in the city. It is probable that he will be a candidate for solicitor general of his circuit, a position now held by Mr. Tom Eason, of Telfair. The election will take place at the next session of the legislature. Mr. Eason will be a candidate to succeed himself. It is also probable that Mr. W. M. Clements, of Eastman, will be in the fight. A third-cornered contest will be highly interesting.

Dubignon for Senator.
Fleming duignon was here yesterday. Those friends who conversed with him are thoroughly satisfied that he will be a candidate for United States senator. From all that has been learned Mr. duignon can be put down as a certain candidate. In this city it is believed that two others are sure to be candidates, ex-Speaker Crisp and Secretary Hoke Smith.

Ready to Hang.
Sheriff Jones of Twiggs county, is in the city, and today he purchased the rope with which he expects to hang Mrs. Elizabeth Nobles and Gus Fambles. Sheriff Jones says he has never hanged a person, and the double execution will be his first experience at the business. Sheriff Jones called to see Mrs. Nobles at the jail today and she conversed pleasantly with him. She did not appear at all disturbed by the prospect of her execution. She said she was ready to die and that she would launch her soul into eternity.

Reward Not Paid.
The reward offered for the capture of W. O. Green, of Morgan county, charged with the murder of J. F. East, has not yet been paid, though as stated in The Constitution the Macon officers expect to receive a satisfactory portion of it. There is said to be a contention in Morgan over the reward, there being several parties who claim it. The governor offered $100, and relatives of the dead man offered $200. It is said that a sensation would be caused in Morgan if it was known who first gave Sheriff Fears, of Morgan, information of the escape of Green, and that he might be a candidate for escape through Macon to Texas. The person thus informing on Green came to Macon with Shivers from Madison last Friday evening, a short while before Green was arrested, but he did not tell Green's name to him. Shivers and Detective Patterson captured Green at the depot. When Green reached the barracks he expressed a great desire to ascertain from Chief Butler how his movement was learned. Green would be greatly surprised if he knew who posted the officials. He may learn later, however. This party wishes to share in the reward.

Macon and the Exposition.
Mr. Theodore Ellis, representing the Young Men's Business League of Macon, has returned from Atlanta where he went to see about getting space on the exposition grounds on which to erect a building in which to make an exhibit. The object of the trip was to secure from the exposition, chiefly of fruits. He reports that a site can be secured.

Newspapers Notes.
Mr. J. Wingfield Nislet, clerk of the city court, will hardly be reappointed by Judge Ross. Mr. Nislet's term expires August 10. There are several applicants, but rumor says, among whom are R. H. Smith, the present oil inspector of the Macon district; Robert Anderson, son of ex-State Attorney General Anderson; W. F. Price, ex-managing editor of The Macon Telegraph.

There was an immense audience tonight at Crump's park in attendance on a concert by the Second Regiment band. The object of the concert was to raise a fund to buy a uniform for the band. There will be several similar concerts for a like purpose. Today in the city court William Jones, colored, was convicted of cheating and swindling and sentenced to pay a fine of $25 or serve seven months on the chain.

Alderman John Hueley has returned from a delightful trip to the west. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter. He was not as bad as some of the reports. He was not as bad as some of the reports. He was not as bad as some of the reports.

The annual South Macon district conference met at Unadilla today. The delegates from the district were: Mr. J. W. Patterson, left this morning for Atlanta, to visit his father, who is a short while and will then leave to join his husband, who is stationed with his regiment at Fort Riley, Kansas.

ALL WERE FOR LITTLE.
Judge Cozart appointed on the Congressional District Committee. Columbus, Ga., August 7. (Special.)—The democratic executive committee met this morning and consolidated the votes cast in yesterday's primary for representative in the general assembly for Muscogee county. The total number of votes polled was 323. Captain John Little receiving them all. After declaring Captain Little the nominee the committee took up the matter of choosing a successor to the late Morgan McMillen as a member of the congressional executive committee of the fourth district, and Judge A. W. Cozart was unanimously elected.

A Democrat Elected.
Cuthbert, Ga., August 7. (Special.)—Columbus Taylor, nominee of the democratic party, easily defeated R. B. Saxon, the third party nominee, in the election here. Taylor was backed with a lathered battle the nuts that held the door open. The door was open. The door was open. The door was open.

General Stovall Buried.
Augusta, Ga., August 7. (Special.)—The funeral of General Marcus A. Stovall, at the First Presbyterian church this afternoon, was largely attended. Rev. Dr. Plunkett conducted the funeral. General Stovall was buried in his uniform of company. He was killed during the war. His coffin was covered with a lathered battle the nuts that held the door open. The door was open. The door was open.

Wilkes County Notes.
Washington, Ga., August 7. (Special.)—L. Ward Nelson, of The Savannah Morning News, spent a few days here this week. Bishop Haygood preached an eloquent sermon at the Methodist church last Sunday. The rejuvenated farmers' alliance held a meeting at the Masonic hall today.

Lockjaw Killed Her.
Washington, Ga., August 7. (Special.)—The death of Miss Ethel Wood, the fifteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wood, was a peculiar case. About ten days ago she struck a splinter in her foot. Apparently the wound healed immediately, but a few days ago it began troubling her again. Lockjaw set in, and she died after two days of great suffering.

GONE TO HIS REST SHE SUES FOR $7,000

Captain Bascom Myrick Passed Away at 1 O'Clock This Morning.

WAS PROMINENT IN MIDDLE GEORGIA

He Was Born in Liberty County—At One Time a Banker—Editor of the American Times-Recorder.

Americus, Ga., August 8, 2 a. m.—(Special.)—Captain Bascom Myrick, editor of the Times-Recorder, died at 1 o'clock this morning. He was stricken three weeks ago and had been critically ill almost all that time. Captain Myrick was born in Liberty county, Georgia, in May, 1851. He is the only son of Rev. D. J. Myrick, a well known minister of Georgia, and up to young manhood resided with him in many places throughout the state. Bascom Myrick was educated at Emory college, graduating in 1870. Among his classmates in the petition Mrs. Brown alleges that she was the niece of Judge Harris and that at the time she came to Athens to live with him she was unmarried. She was at that time Mrs. May, engaged in teaching a good paying school. At the instance and request of Judge Harris she came to Athens to live at his home and her duties there were to look after all household affairs and everything pertaining to his comfort and enjoyment.

The petition alleges that this work was of the most arduous and confining nature, especially during the last few years of Judge Harris' life, and that she was treated with the most cruel and unfeeling manner. The petition is signed by Mrs. Brown, who is now residing in Athens, and she is asking for the sum of $7,000.

Judge Harris left an estate worth over $100,000, and already a caveat has been filed to his will and a contest is on in Clarke superior court. The contest is being made by the most charitable men who ever lived in Athens, but in the disposition of his estate by will he did not please his relatives, as is evidenced by the contest over the will, and the estate is now in the hands of the court.

In Justice Court.
Judge J. F. Foster this morning heard several criminal cases. He bound over Alex. Winstree, colored, charged with forgery; Armistead Lewis and Albert Carroll, charged with selling liquor illegally, and dismissed the case against Aleck Christy, colored, charged with selling liquor illegally. The case of Morton vs. Lipscomb, injunction to prevent defendant from doing a fire insurance business here, which was decided in favor of Judge J. F. Foster, by Judge Hutchins, will be carried to the supreme court by the plaintiff.

Storm Water Sewers.
Street Commissioner Barnett will commence work next week upon the new system of storm water sewers to be built in the business portion of the city. The new system will cost $250 and will be one mile in length. The electric light question is still under consideration by the council, and the probability is that the city and the present electric company will arbitrate as to the price to be paid by the city for the arc and incandescent systems of the company.

Will Not Go.
Rev. Robert M. A. Black, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal church in this city, declined the truth of the rumor that he intends leaving Athens for Flat Rock, N. C. He will spend a two months' vacation at that place and will preach to an Episcopal congregation at that place, and that it was his intention to here will be filled by different ministers, and at the expiration of that time he will return to Athens. Mr. Black came to Athens from Atlanta and during his stay here he has been very active in the church here in a most flourishing condition.

Mrs. Collins Dead.
This afternoon at 1 o'clock Mrs. Bessie Talmadge Collins died at her home on Reese street, after a long and painful illness. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow at the Presbyterian church, of which Mrs. Collins was a member. Mrs. Collins was the mother of Mr. Hugh Dursey and Miss Kate Dorsey, of this city, and a sister of Captain C. G. Talmadge, Major John C. Talmadge and Mrs. Julius Cohen.

Mr. Smith's Campaign.
Secretary Hoke Smith left today for Atlanta. He spoke yesterday at Jefferson and says he will deliver a dozen more lectures in the next month. One of these speeches will be in Athens. Mr. Smith denies the rumor that he is to start a morning paper in Atlanta, saying that he has no intention whatever of taking such a step.

Newspapers Notes.
Mr. Charles H. Phinizy has returned home after an extended trip abroad. The Lexington and Athens baseball games played an exciting game last Friday afternoon. The score was 9 to 1 in favor of Lexington.

Mrs. M. A. Lipscomb is visiting relatives in Atlanta.
Mrs. Henry Francis of Atlanta, is on a visit to her father, Captain C. G. Talmadge, Judge Kenebrew tried R. L. Shiflet, of Hart county, yesterday on the charge of illicit distilling and released him.

OLD BANK REORGANIZED.
Capital Is Offered to Home for a New Bank. Rome, Ga., August 7. (Special.)—The directors of the Merchants' bank held another meeting this afternoon and it is understood that the matter of reopening is being considered. The bank is now in the hands of the court, and the directors are endeavoring to keep men from taking the places of the trustees. New Bank for Rome.
Today H. B. T. Montgomery, of Opelika, and W. J. Montgomery, of Atlanta, arrived in the city and a meeting of citizens was called to discuss the question of opening a new bank. The Montgomerys proposed to put in $50,000, the citizens to raise $50,000, and capitalize the new bank at $100,000. The following committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions: J. W. Rounsaville, J. L. West, W. H. Middlebrooks, of Atlanta, J. West. This committee will go to work immediately to secure the $50,000 and if successful will open a new bank at once. The Montgomerys were favorably impressed with the outlook.

A Good Session at Last.
Cuthbert, Ga., August 7. (Special.)—The recent heavy rains have proved destructive to property throughout the country. In some sections the crops have been completely washed away. In other sections the crops have been considerably washed. In the Coleman neighborhood the mill dams of Mr. J. F. Seely and that of Mr. O. A. Barry, now owned by the Bank of Cuthbert, were swept away. The rains had not a good season in nearly two months and the drought was proving exceedingly hurtful.

Lockjaw Killed Her.
Washington, Ga., August 7. (Special.)—The death of Miss Ethel Wood, the fifteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wood, was a peculiar case. About ten days ago she struck a splinter in her foot. Apparently the wound healed immediately, but a few days ago it began troubling her again. Lockjaw set in, and she died after two days of great suffering.

Action Against the Young L. Harris Estate for Servants Rendered.

MRS. MINTOSH BROWN THE PLAINTIFF

She Says That She Attended Her Uncle's Household Diligently for Six Years, and Now Asks for Compensation.

Athens, Ga., August 7. (Special.)—A suit for $7,000 for services rendered has been filed against Messrs. W. W. Thomas and A. E. Griffith, as executors of the estate of the late Judge Young L. G. Harris. The suit is brought by Colonel Joseph N. Worley, of Macon, an attorney for Mrs. Mamie McIntosh Brown, nee Miss Mamie McIntosh.

SET ON FIRE BY A HALF WITTED YOUTH

He Says That He Did Not Like the Dandish Ways of the Engineers—Quiet at the Mines.

Gadsden, Ala., August 7. (Special.)—The trainmen of the Chattanooga Southern road arriving in the city report what came near being a terrible wreck on the road. At Little river, several miles above here, as the train was nearing the bridge over the river the engineer saw that a span was gone and stopped the train in time to prevent a plunge into the river. The train was delayed three hours until a temporary structure could be built.

Parties in the neighborhood said that they were passing the bridge early in the morning and discovered that it was on fire. After some efforts they succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not in time to get down the train, and it was through the careful lookout of the engineer and fireman that an awful calamity was averted. The postoffice near the bridge was burned the same night with its entire contents. The citizens were aroused and they immediately began a search for the guilty party. Wiley Tucker, a half-witted white man, was arrested on the charge of setting fire to the bridge and postoffice and carried to Chattanooga jail. He acknowledged the crime and said that he wanted to burn the bridge because he did not like the dandish ways of the engineers and the railroad.

BLANTON APPOINTED.
Now, However, Charges Are Made Against Him—He Is Young. Montgomery, Ala., August 7. (Special.)—Governor Oates today appointed R. L. Blanton, of Natural Bridge, probate judge of Winston county, vice Judge Gibson, deceased. The fight for the place has been a bitter one.

Governor Oates sometime ago notified the democratic executive committee of the county that their recommendation would weigh heavily with him in making the appointment. Applicants Heller, Adkins, McCullough and Haley agreed to abide by the committee's selection. Haley was selected but immediately thereupon charges of unfairness were made against him. The committee, however, has since been set aside and the executive says the effect of it has been to disprove the charges against Haley and the committee. Three members of the committee, however, now say that strong opposition to Haley being appointed has developed among the democrats of the county since his recommendation by the committee. Blanton is a young lawyer of twenty-two years.

COAL GOES UP NEXT MONTH.
During August the Prices Will Remain as at Present. Birmingham, Ala., August 7. (Special.)—The coal operators of the Birmingham district, Tennessee and Kentucky, who have made a combination for the maintenance of prices and the establishment of a uniformity in contracts and the regulation of the same, will have a meeting at Knoxville, Tenn., tomorrow for the further cementing of the combine.

The meeting of the operators of the three states was held at Lookout Mountain a week ago and a semi-organization was formed, with Mr. Pratt, of Tennessee, as temporary president. Speaking to a public meeting, the coal operators said that the advance in the price of coal, while declared operative some weeks ago, would not be in practical effect until September, for the reason that the companies had contracts at the old prices sufficient to keep them going until that time. The advance will, however, be in active effect by September 1st.

An Aged Alabama Couple Will Contribute Something Worth Seeing.

Montgomery, Ala., August 7. (Special.)—Special from Opelika says: "Mrs. and Mr. W. C. Pope, from the lower part of this county, will have on exhibition at the Atlanta exhibition one of the most unique exhibits there, consisting of home-made furniture, linens, counterpane and paintings, mostly the work of their own hands and all over seventy years old.

"This remarkable couple are very aged. Mr. Pope being ninety-six and Mrs. Pope eighty-nine years of age. They have been married sixty-nine years, and the flight of that age is hardly noticeable. They live in a small, neat, white, one-story house, and says he feels no material difference in himself now and what he did thirty years ago. He is a half-witted white man, and is a very interesting character. He is a very interesting character. He is a very interesting character.

MORRISON THE MAN

Has Been Named by Senator Hill and Eastern Democrats for President.

HE WAS IN ATLANTA YESTERDAY

What He Said with Reference To His Boom for the Presidency.

SAYS HILL HAS NOT GIVEN UP THE PLUM

Intimate There Is a Scheme on the Part of David B. To Turn the Eyes of the People to the West.

A presidential boom centered in Atlanta yesterday.

While Colonel William R. Morrison sat as commissioner and listened to the tedious testimony regarding fruit rates, his name was heralded throughout the north and west as the man who will don Grover's toga in the year 1896.

It was not until he was informed by a representative of The Constitution, just after the adjournment of the session, that he knew of the announcement that he had been named by eastern democrats headed by Senator David B. Hill and the Chicago caucuses as probable presidential timber.

He looked up quietly in pleasant surprise.

"Ah! They're firing at me, are they? Well, now, I had never thought of myself as president. I see—Hill is a man of shrewd parts. Wants a western man, does he, and wants that man to be me? He hopes to keep the people guessing until he can combine his forces and march out with a strong front."

Then Colonel Morrison went on to discuss the general condition of the country and show that it was too far off to speculate with any degree of certainty in regard to the presidency.

His Home Boom.

The Morrison boom struck Illinois after his departure from Georgia and the commissioner has been in Atlanta during the sweep of his tidal wave over the west.

Before this his name has been casually mentioned in connection with the campaign of 1896, but it had taken no decisive turn until the statement credited to Senator Hill came out that the democrats should nominate a western man and that William R. Morrison measured up to all demands of democracy.

This remark is said to have been made by Senator Hill a few days ago in the presence of a number of politicians during a discussion of the coming campaign and the probable candidates. It is said that Mr. Hill explained his remark that a western man is necessary for the reason that under the present mangled condition of the New York democracy and because of other conditions it would be impossible for the western man to win the vote of the west and unite them in sentiment. No man, he said, from New York under existing conditions could draw out the entire democratic vote.

This general claim is made in regard to the political conditions in the empire state, that the antagonism of the factions there is too marked to hope for reconciliation through the naming of any one man from that state as a candidate for president. It is reported that Senator Hill is convinced of the fact that neither he nor Mr. Whitney could hope to accomplish this and as for himself he has determined to abandon all hope for the presidential nomination and bide his time until a more convenient season. With this realization of the situation in view, Mr. Hill has reached the conclusion, so it is said, that a western man is the only solution to the question of bringing out the full undivided vote of his state in spite of the claim of some of his confederates that New York could easily unite upon Whitney or Lamont.

Stirred Up His Supporters.

This boom of Mr. Morrison has taken definite shape among politicians of the west. With reference to his candidacy in an interview in The Times-Herald, one of his foremost friends is reported as saying: "While of course my evidence will be entirely partisan and upon one side," said this man today, "I can bear witness to the fact that William R. Morrison is right at the front in the race for the presidential nomination. Senator Hill is not the only democratic leader who believes that the nominee of the party should hail from the west nor is he alone in the belief that Mr. Morrison is the most available westerner in the party. He is the man who can solidify the west and command the support of the solid south. At the same time his record is such as to command the confidence of the east. Mr. Morrison is pre-eminently a sound money man. He never cast a vote for free coinage while in congress, and his unvarying course was directed in line with the soundest financial policies at all times. Not a particle of evidence can ever be produced to connect him with financial heresies of any nature from the days of greenbackism to the present time."

"It has been charged that he 'dodged' the financial issue in Illinois this summer when he should have been on the side of sound money. That charge is an injustice and cannot be truthfully maintained. He was sustained by fact. When he went to Illinois last spring to look into the political situation there resultant from the free silver convention he found that the administration party were money men and had resolved not to make a fight. They had given up at the very outset and determined to let the matter go by default, reserving their opposition until next year, when a vital issue would be presented. In view of this fact, and that the administration would not raise a hand to help itself, Mr. Morrison was not called upon to undertake a campaign by himself, so he simply followed the lead of men who were managing the sound money interests and kept quiet. There is no question as to Mr. Morrison securing the solid Illinois delegation in the next convention. The state convention will not declare for free coinage, but will take a stand for sound money and Morrison, and he will go into the national convention with a good plain and a big and powerful delegation behind him."

"Mr. Morrison has always been popular in the south. He was one of the first men to extend the hand of welcome and fellowship to the men who came to congress from the south after the war, and they have not forgotten what he rendered the south when she had few friends of influence and a house packed with bitter and unrelenting enemies. His name is a household word among southern politicians. It was Mr. Morrison who diverted the attention of the country from sectionalism to tariff, drawing the fire of the enemy from democracy's weak spot and raising a new issue to occupy the minds of the people and give the democrats a fighting ground. He saw his party would be kept down for years by the weight of sectional opinion, smothered in the folds of the 'bloody shirt,' and he devised the tariff diversion. His position on the tariff will be acceptable to all advocates of reform in this line. He, therefore, fills two main requirements of a democratic candidate—to be acceptable to the south and west on the tariff and satisfy the requirements of the east on the financial question."

"The point has been raised whether he would be opposed by the administration forces in the convention. He is not particularly friendly with the president, but I do not think the administration would make any fight on him, as I do not think Mr. Cleveland will attempt to name his successor. With the friends of David B. Hill and of William C. Whitney, when the latter finds that he is not available, Mr. Morrison will have a great start in the convention."

Mr. Morrison laughed.

I saw Mr. Morrison just after the testimony in the hearing over the fruit rates was closed yesterday afternoon, and he had started to the car with Major Edwin Fitzgerald and Colonel Henderson, of Knoxville.

The figure of Colonel Morrison is rather stout with years, but he is still a school boy in disposition and gives a hearty round laugh at a joke.

He was evidently inclined to treat the mention of his name in connection with the race for president as a joke. There was an effort also to make an embarrassing remark when he learned of his boom.

"I had never thought of myself just exactly in such a position," he said. "They are shooting at random. If you ask me what I think, I do not care to say that a western man would be a potent factor toward combining the estranged elements of the democratic party. A western man with the interests of the south at heart is the solution of this question. I say this with no personal motive or selfish interest, for the thought of securing the presidency is far removed from me at present."

"The idea of Senator Hill is not bad. I agree with him in the theory that the best time of the party can be accomplished and that there is more hope for success in democratic ranks should a strong man from the west be agreed upon."

It Was a Subterfuge.

In what he said Colonel Morrison intimated that he thought Senator Hill was attempting to rush off a kind of subterfuge by holding up a man from the west to notice, and stating the sentiment in New York until he could get his forces fixed. Senator Hill and Colonel Morrison have always been on friendly terms. "Mr. Hill wants the presidency himself," said Colonel Morrison. His tone and manner said, "I fear Hill has an eye for his own good. When the time comes and all conditions are ripe he will appear in all his glory. Just now he wants the New Yorkers to put on the soft pedal when it comes to his name in order that he may set his traps. He hopes to turn attention from Whitney or Lamont or from Cleveland, too, for that matter, before the sentiment of the east becomes crystallized. This once accomplished Mr. Hill could maneuver with immunity and unobscured could accomplish much toward clinching his own campaign."

"Candidly, I say that it is too far off to speak definitely in regard to the presidency. For the party and its success I have the most sanguine hopes, but I do not see the general disorder. I think that today the party is as strong as it was four years ago and when the call comes it will present a solid phalanx to the enemy."

His Money Talk.

Colonel Morrison deposited a small grip on the seat of the car and pulled out his glasses to read again the statement of Senator Hill.

I asked his position in regard to the question of money. "I do not care to talk about it," he said. "I think there has been too much talk on this question. There is a question I consider of equal importance which has been seemingly lost sight of in this scramble over silver and gold."

"My position, however, is well known. I believe in sound money."

Way Hill Did It.

Colonel Morrison referred to the silver sentiment in the south and west. The fact that Hill had mentioned him for president, however, seemed uppermost in his mind, and he apparently could not disabuse it of the thought that there was a selfish motive behind the announcement of the New York senator.

To Build a Road.

The County Commissioners Will Give Oak Grove a New Highway.

At a meeting of the county commissioners yesterday it was decided that a new road would be opened in the Oak Grove district. This road will tap the Roswell road at the level mile post and make a close cut to the Long Island road, making a saving of about one mile and a half. This road has been needed for some time, so the residents of Oak Grove say, but has never been ordered built on account of the opposition that the movement has received from certain quarters.

At the meeting yesterday many were present who opposed the opening of the road, and it was quite a breezy little debate that the two opposing sides entered into. The matter was finally decided by the adoption and passing of resolutions allowing the road to be constructed. It was claimed that the old road that is now being used is very hilly and is much longer than it should be, and that the new road will be comparatively level and will be much shorter.

Mr. Walter Brown stated to the meeting that he did not think that the roads of the county were posted well enough, and that on account of the absence of the records it was very likely that travelers would take the wrong road, which would be a matter of great inconvenience. He wanted the county to make arrangements for the better posting of the roads and thought that this work should be done at once, or just as soon as practicable.

At the meeting of the board of supervisors of the county of Bryant's district will be given better attention. It was reported that the meeting that the bridges were not safe and most of them needed repairs and attention. On motion of Commissioner Adair the matter was referred to the bridge committee with power to act.

A petition from H. P. Grant, C. A. Wheeler and others was read asking that damages be allowed them for the work that had been done on Blackley and Piedmont avenues in front of their residences. They claimed that the streets had been graded lower and that their property had been damaged. The matter was referred to the proper committee with power to act.

Mr. W. P. Shearer was elected to fill a vacancy on the board of examiners of stationary engineers.

Mr. Spaulding called attention to the number of fakirs who have invaded the city and exposition grounds. Mr. Brown thought that wells should be dug on the county roads and that drinking fountains should be established. The matter was referred to Mr. Brown's committee.

Mr. Brown was instructed to have placed in the almshouse a telephone for three years at a cost of $100 per annum.

TO PUT HIM OUT.

Attempt To Oust the Executor of the Estate of J. G. Reynolds.

Before Ordinary Calhoun was heard yesterday a sensational case concerning the estate of the late John G. Reynolds.

It was charged that Mr. John Walker, the attorney, who had been appointed executor of the estate, was mentally incapacitated to continue in service.

Evidence was brought out to show that he had recklessly squandered money in other ways misused the funds entrusted to him.

Mr. Walker in the afternoon made a clear statement in his own defense. He said that he was a great and had affected him somewhat nervously, but that he had conscientiously attended to the affairs and minded them as best he could.

RAILROADERS' TALK

They Tell of the Great Expense in Handling Georgia Peaches.

MR. BALDWIN AND MR. HAAS TESTIFY

They Assert That the Railroads Are Trying To Encourage Fruit Growing in Georgia—Other Railroad News.

Commissioners Morrison and Clements continued the hearing in the case of the railroad yesterday on behalf of the interstate commerce commission.

The members of the state railroad commission were present during the hearing.

The railroads had the day and put up many witnesses to prove that the expense of hauling peaches to the eastern markets was too great to permit of a reduction of the rates.

Mr. H. C. Hanson, chief clerk of the traffic department of the Central, was put on the stand and testified that he has been interested in the shipment of peaches. He testified that he had learned that the rates to the east from Georgia were lower than the rates from any other section of the country to any market, excepting, perhaps, the rate from Texas points to the Chicago market.

It was shown by the railroads that this rate is made from a section where very few peaches are shipped from season to season, and that even then the crop is perhaps shipped in competition with the Mississippi river rates and shipped in ventilated cars.

The testimony of Mr. W. H. Baldwin, third vice president of the Southern Railway, and that of Mr. S. B. Haas, president of the Georgia Southern, was unquestionably the strongest testimony that has been rendered by the railroads as to the expense of hauling peaches.

Mr. Baldwin, who is a man noted for his staid and frugal ways in all matters, testified that the Southern railway had gone into the handling of the fruit business from Georgia this year with the purpose to make a profit. He said that the railway had made the time of the fruit growing business a success. He stated that they had taken from their regular passenger service the ten-wheel engines to haul the peaches, and that the time of the fruit growing business had been made by their passenger train.

He testified that the only delays that had been made were by the shippers in getting the cars ready for shipment. This required additional icing for refrigeration.

Even though the railway had made the time of the fruit growing business a success, he said, the railway would not run the peach cars into New York on a fifty hour schedule. This, of course, brought on much expense. There was re-handling and shifting at every turn along the road, and the railway had to make a mileage of 1,600 miles, making a far less schedule of earnings than on any other business done by any railroad in the south. According to his statements the fact that the rate on peaches is as little as the rate on cotton, coal, tar and other commodities of traffic in spite of this vast expense of extra service.

He stated that the average earnings to any railroad on all business must be no less than from $1.50 per train mile for any freight train, whether the cars be empty or loaded. On the contrary, in the case of the peach trains, averaging only six cars, the earnings were only 35 cents per train mile.

He went on wonderfully the cause of the railroads in the matter of expenses in shipping fruit. Turning to the commissioners, Mr. Baldwin stated with great earnestness that the rates on peaches, considering the service that is given, are as high as the rates on any other commodity. He stated that the rates might give an inferior service for less money, but he could not see how he could give such a service as they are giving for less money.

He stated that the Southern had determined against the advice of the traffic men to do all that could be done this year to make the fruit business a success and he for one considered it nothing short of credit to the railway that it had been in consideration of the efforts that had been strained for them by the Southern to undertake such a pleading as set forth in the charges of the case at issue.

Mr. Baldwin's testimony was a strong presentation of the railroads' side of the case.

Mr. Haas on the Stand.

Mr. Sol Haas was another witness who made a forceful statement for the railroads.

Without any effort to strain the case at all, he made a statement of perfect sincerity and business-like methods he showed that the present rates were most reasonable from a shipper's standpoint.

He said the railroads could easily give an inferior service to the peach growers at a lower charge, but he did not care to see his experience as a railroad man how they could give the same excellent service at the rate of $100 per car, which is demanded by the peach growers through the Georgia railroad commission.

He went into the detail of the case and showed how the expenses were piled up against the railroads in the shipment of peaches, the expense of quick schedules, of icing cars and shifting them to the various places, etc. He said that the fruit growers were making a profit for the capital invested than the railroads, showing that the Southern just was able last season to earn the interest on the money invested, while many of the fruit growers on their own testimony were making 20 per cent profit on their investment. In regard to the cheap rates charged from Texas points to Chicago, Mr. Haas stated that it is probable that those rates are due to the fact that the Mississippi river rates for the rate by rail, that the amount of fruit shipped by the Illinois Central is widely different from that shipped by the Southern and other lines, and that the weight per car is limited in a way making a much higher rate. He further stated that these rates would come under the head of rates to the west, and since there was no objection on the part of the fruit growers to the rates to the west, he did not see that they could be considered in the case involved.

The state attorneys forced Mr. Haas to give a detailed account of the manner in which the railroads agreed with the refrigerating companies with an apparent design to show that the $30 per car for refrigerating purposes was charged up by the companies and that the settlement might involve the monkeying with this charge by the railroads. But Mr. Haas was clear on this point, and stated that it is true that the railroads collect the $30 per car for refrigerating purposes it is done for the accommodation of the shipper and the refrigerating company at the destination of the car to prevent the shipper from having to pay the $30 down cash when the shipment is made. He stated further that the $30 for refrigerating the car is paid by the railroad company to the refrigerating company just as any other money is paid out by the railroad to creditors or to parties for whom the railroad collects the money.

The commissioners listened patiently to the hearing of testimony until 1 o'clock, when they adjourned for lunch and closed the taking of testimony. It is not known when the hearing of argument will take place before the interstate commerce commission at Washington. Not before the 10th of March.

Judge Allen Fort, a member of the Georgia railroad commission, assisted Attorney Joe Terrell in the trial of the case before the commission on the part of the peach growers and the state commission.

Before the adjournment of the session Mr. W. S. Chisholm, of Savannah, representing the Plant system and the Atlantic coast line, arose and asked for a dismissal of the case against the Plant line, the Atlantic Coast line and the Baltimore and Ohio, on the ground that these roads did not have a compact for traffic handling as alleged in the complaint. The attorney general stated that he would amend the case so as to strike out the Baltimore and Ohio and insert the Pennsylvania, but Mr. Chisholm held to the point that the charge could be amended by striking out any lines but not by inserting other parties. The point was held valid by Commissioner Morrison and the case was ordered dismissed.

Just before the commissioners adjourned Attorney General Joe Terrell stated that he had a crate of fine Elberta peaches sent to the commissioners with the compliments of Loring Neufville. They were greatly enjoyed and present after the session was adjourned.

The case has proved a very interesting one, and the hearing of the arguments will be particularly interesting to all concerned. The case will probably not be decided before next year's crop of peaches comes on.

WHO WILL BE COMMISSIONER?

No Election Will Probably Take Place at the New York Meeting.

The postponed meeting of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association to be held on the 15th instant at Manhattan Beach, will probably not take up the election of a commissioner to succeed Major E. B. Stahlman.

It is thought that the election will be postponed and it is said that not until it is definitely known what lines will become members of the association under the new agreement will there be an election to choose the commissioner for the next term.

As a matter of fact, there seems to be a great deal of doubt in the minds of the old members of the association whether there will be many changes in the new agreement after all. It is known that the meeting at Asheville resulted in some very liberal concessions to the opposing factions, meaning such lines as the Seaboard Air-Line, the Asheville meeting it was agreed to give the Seaboard all that was asked in the way of changes in the present agreement except the right to pull out of the association on sixty days' notice. The old rule has been changed so that the road may withdraw on six months' notice. This was the only question left in dispute at the Asheville meeting, but it is likely that this one question may bring up the entire agreement again at Manhattan Beach unless the Seaboard proposes to the six months' limitation.

If the whole agreement is taken up again for adjustment it is thought that it will be placed back at the standard of restriction that it has had in the past. This, of course, would mean that the association would be regardless of the Seaboard Air-Line, and there would be presented quite a different condition as to the commissionership. Thus, it may be seen the question of who will be commissioner is by no means decided as yet. Not until it is decided what lines will be members of the association will anything definite be known as to the manner of man the roads that join the reorganization will want as commissioner.

No new names have lately been heard in connection with the commissionership. It is thought that John M. Culp, traffic manager of the Southern, could get the place if he wanted it, but it is known that he does not want it, and that seems to settle it so far as he is concerned. The name of T. M. Emerson, traffic manager of the Atlanta and Coast Line, has been mentioned, but it is known that he is not inclined to accept such an office.

Commissioner W. W. Finley, of the Southern States Passenger Association, declares positively that he is not interested for the place, but it is believed by many of the most prominent railroad men of the south that he will, notwithstanding this, be given a chance to accept or refuse it when the members come to an election of Major Stahlman's successor. There is a great deal of interest in the matter, and the meeting at Manhattan Beach will be watched with a great deal of interest by the southern railroad world.

PAT KENNY OPENS THIS MORNING.

The Event Will Be One of Pleasure to His Many Friends.

Pat Kenny, one of the oldest and best known whiskey men of Atlanta, is now in the moon business again. He will open the moon and the saloon which will be thrown open this morning is one of the prettiest and noblest in the city.

Mr. Kenny has been out of the saloon business for some time, and when he retired he was one of the best known and most popular saloonists in Atlanta.

Recently he decided to return to the line of work and secured the large place on Alabama street recently occupied by Crankshaw, the jeweler. This he fitted up in the handsomest and most attractive manner, and this morning it will be thrown open to the public.

Mr. Kenny has always been one of the best caterers in the city and his opening this morning will be one of the best the city has seen in a long time. It will show to those who come one of the coolest, best and most delightful places in the city, stocked with one of the choicest and most select stocks of wines, liquors, cigars, tobacco and beers. In fact, every drink that is desired, and most attractive manner, and in any other way delightful, will be ready for service.

But one of the most delightful features of the opening will be the great, old-fashioned barbecue that will be served. The 'cue will be one of the most delightful and exquisite that has been spread in Atlanta in a long time and will be ready at 10:30 o'clock and will last until 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Remember, the white front, Nos. 7 and 9 Alabama street, where Pat Kenny and his assistant, G. P. Young, will be found serving good drinks and delightful barbecue today.

T. M. C. A. Notes.

Dr. Williamson's Bible class is becoming one of the most popular features of the Young Men's Christian Association. It meets every Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock and is largely attended by young men. A cordial invitation is extended to all who may wish to study the Bible under the guidance of this cultured scholar. Delicious hot suppers are served by the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to all who attend. These ladies deserve to be warmly commended for the interest which they have taken in these meetings.

Last Monday Mr. Walter R. Brown, who was a charter member of the association and one of its first presidents, kindly donated sixteen large watermelons, the product of his model farm, "New Canaan." They were cold and luscious, and the boys did full justice to them. Secretary Mathews has returned from his recent visit to Baltimore, Md.

IN THE LOCAL FIELD

Minor Happenings of the Day in Court, Criminal, Social, Political, and Educational Circles in Atlanta.

Colonel S. T. Blalock and Hon. A. S. Clay were at the Kimball yesterday.

The convention of Georgia justices, which was to be held in Atlanta yesterday, has been postponed until October 24th.

Mr. M. L. Littleton, who is at the head of the enterprise to build a large theater at the exposition grounds, is at the Kimball. She will begin work on the building in a few days.

Deputy Clerk Buchanan was a little too restless to keep his seat in the clerk's office yesterday. He was constantly telling of a taxpayer that he was the grandfather of a healthy boy who is now flourishing with a healthy father, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Owens, at 7 Park avenue.

A series of tent meetings was commenced at the corner of Auburn and Courtland avenues last night. The tent is large and will accommodate all who may desire to attend. Rev. R. S. Owens, William Woodford and C. F. Curtis will speak at the services and the exercises will be interesting and instructive.

Mr. J. J. Camp brought a curiosity to the Constitution office yesterday. It was a bunch of tomatoes of the Penderosa variety, all grown upon a single stem. There were eight tomatoes and the aggregate weight was five and one-half pounds. They grew in Mr. Camp's garden at 386 Grant street.

Allice Phinley, colored, was arrested and locked up on suspicion last night. She was ordered held by the detective in the burglary committed by Will Hamilton, the negro under arrest at police headquarters, but later in the night she was released for want of evidence against her.

Mr. Sanders McDaniel, of Monroe, has been appointed assistant division counsel of the Southern railway by Dorsey, Brewster & Howell, attorneys for the Southern. McDaniel's home is at present at Monroe, but he will come to Atlanta to reside. He is the only son of ex-Governor McDaniel, and is one of the most promising and gifted young men in the state.

No meeting of the Fulton County Industrial Loan Association was held yesterday afternoon on account of the failure of a quorum to attend. The meeting was held for 10 o'clock in the parlors of the Young Men's Christian Association. It was decided by those present to allow all matters to go over until the next regular meeting in September.

Hon. Hiram P. Bell, of Forsyth county, was one of the distinguished visitors at the custom house yesterday afternoon. Colonel Bell is the hero of more than one hotly contested campaign in the ninth district. For several years he represented that district in the halls of congress and was recognized as one of the ablest members of the lower house. Colonel Bell, though advanced in years, is still engaged in the active practice of his profession. He takes deep interest in political affairs, being a strong advocate of free silver, and has lost none of the popularity enjoyed by him in the flush of party honors on the floor of congress. Colonel Bell is the father of Hon. George L. Bell, the assistant district attorney.

FOR CREATING A NUISANCE.

J. Henley Smith Fined in Police Court for Burying a Cow on His Lot.

J. Henley Smith, the real estate dealer, was arraigned in the recorder's court yesterday afternoon, charged with creating a nuisance and violating section 499 of the city code. The evidence against him was to the effect that he buried a cow within fifty feet of his house and within the same distance of another house in West End, creating a nuisance by doing so.

Several residents of West End appeared against Mr. Smith in court yesterday afternoon. The officers testified that they had to disinter the place on last Sunday, and others testified that the stench created by the burying of the cow was a nuisance.

Acting Recorder Mayson fined Mr. Smith $10 and costs for the offense and later suspended the fine until this morning in order to give the defendant time to appeal the case. Mr. Smith complained of the fine and said that he would not pay it, claiming that he had the right to bury the cow on his own premises.

Both leaders lost yesterday while Nashville, the holders of third place, won.

But the loss by the Atlantas and the Evansvilles does not change the relative standing between those two clubs, while the win by Nashville does not help that club's position.

It was the merest scratch in the world that Atlanta did not take the game in New Orleans, while the leaders lost in what now appears to be the pennant city by a good size margin.

Norton was in the box for the Atlantas and put up a fine lot of work. It was impossible for the New Orleans team to hit him more than once in any inning except in the second, when they got two singles off of his delivery, which netted the first run of the game, and proved to be the only earned run.

IT IS A SURE GO.

The Fitzsimmons-Corbett Mill Is Now an Assured Fact.

AN ATLANTA MAN JUST FROM DALLAS

Tells of the Work That Is Being Done. A Plot Will Be on Exhibition at the "Midway."

An architectural design of the great amphitheater in which the Fitzsimmons-Corbett fight will take place in Dallas, Tex., is now traveling a fast wagon between that Texas city and Atlanta.

The design shows one of the largest and most complete buildings ever erected in the south—a building which will give an actual seating capacity of nearly fifty thousand people.

And while the design presents the exterior of the great house in which the battle is to be fought, it carries with it a diagram of the interior construction, showing how the seats are to be arranged and where the points of vantage for a fine observation of the fight are located.

Through one of the leading citizens of Atlanta the advance presentation of the building comes, and with it comes a letter declaring in the most positive terms that the great fight will take place in Dallas.

A prominent citizen of the Texas city, a gentleman who is thoroughly posted on the situation, is in position to know what he writes to be correct. So far but few of these photographic advances—for that is what they may be called—have been given out by the Florida Athletic Club, whose officers are now in Dallas.

It was through the personal request of the Atlanta that one of them is now on route to the Gate City of the South. In the letter from the Dallas gentleman, declaring his Atlanta friend that the design would be mailed in time to reach Atlanta the last of this week, the declaration is made that the fight will be fought in Dallas.

A DARING FEAT.

Trydall, the Mind Reader, Proposes To Be Buried for Ten Days.

Santa Barbara, Cal., August 7.—Alexander Trydall, the mind reader, proposes to undertake a feat never before attempted in this country. This is to be buried alive for ten days, at the expiration of which period he promises to rise from the grave.

Trydall's proposal is to be placed in a hermetically sealed casket, being first covered with clarified butter, called by East Indians "gee," sealing all the pores of the body, eyes, mouth, ears and nostrils. This work is to be performed under the eyes of prominent physicians. Trydall is especially anxious to secure the supervision of Dr. Hall. The casket is then to be placed six feet under ground, covered with earth, and grass seed is to be planted and permitted to spring above. Trusted men are to keep guard over it day and night.

At the expiration of the tenth day it shall be disinterred and opened in the presence of physicians who had witnessed the interment. The experiment is modeled after the feats performed by an East Indian sect.

The proprietors of a local hotel have accepted the proposition and intend making Santa Barbara the center of the scientific attention of the world during the period of Trydall's burial. They will sell the casket to the Brunswick hotel, at Norcross, Ga.; fine climate and water; plenty of milk and chickens; special rates for families. J. M. Holbrook.

Here is a defender of Dr. Hawthorne—one woman who says "Heaven protect us from the masculine woman." She writes: "Editor Constitution—Speaking of Dr. Hawthorne's crusade against the female bicyclist, I will say that I think the doctor is an extremist; I do not believe that it is at all improper for a woman to ride a bicycle. I do think that the costumes worn by the women while riding are simply indecent. How can a woman expect to be respected when she so far forgets her womanly dignity as to don pants (why call them bloomers)?"

ERRORS IN THE TRIAL

Long Motion in the Carr Case Set Forth Many Alleged Ones.

ASK THAT THE VERDICT BE SET ASIDE

Juror Goldsmith Was Disqualified by the Petition Says, and It Is Charged That the Tests Applied to Carr Were Illegal.

Alex Carr, recently adjudged sane, and under death sentence for the murder of Captain King, may have another opportunity given him for his life.

Yesterday a petition was filed by Carr's counsel, Messrs. Arnold & Arnold, directed to the judge of the superior court, asking that the verdict rendered in the last trial be set aside. The counsel for the defendant claim that the verdict was contrary to the evidence, and not according to law, and that the conduct of the jurors was not as it should have been.

The evidence both for the defendant and for the state is believed to be in the petition and the testimony of the condemned man's family is reviewed at length. The father of Carr made quite a lengthy statement before the jury, in which he stated that his son had been insane since birth, and had never shown any intelligence whatever. He said that at one time Alex Carr imagined that his fingers should be all of equal length and he told his little sister to take the ax and cut them off. When the blade of the ax descended the man screamed out with pain and made her desist. Other stories of the strange conduct of the defendant were related, many of which were sanctioned by other witnesses.

One of the main reasons for setting aside the verdict that are stated by the defendant's counsel is that the conduct of the jurors was illegal and not in keeping with the law. The petition says that the defendant was taken into the jury room, and under protest of his counsel, was examined in various ways and subjected to treatment that should not have been allowed. Many errors are alleged to exist in the manner in which the case was tried, and for these and sundry other reasons the defendant's counsel ask that a certiorari should be issued.

The petition is a long one and fills several pages of typewritten matter. Several reasons are given why the verdict should be set aside. It states that the sheriff and ordinary erred in the selection of the jury, and that the evidence was not impartially and the excuses and general conduct of the case was not in keeping with the law. Reference is made to the fact that one of the jurors asked to be excused on the grounds that his business interests would suffer if he was compelled to sit on the jury, and that this excuse was overruled by the sheriff and that the jurymen, on account of the fact that his business interests would suffer if he was compelled to sit on the jury, hurried through with the case and did not perform his duty as a jurymen because he was worried and anxious about his business.

The petition further asks that the verdict be set aside on account of the following improper conduct:

"The foreman, Dr. K. C. Divine, at the suggestion of the jurors, rose and stated that it was the wish of the jurors not to have any argument at all and that argument should be dispensed with. This conduct, petitioner says, was error, and was improper on the part of said member of the jury, and ought to be set aside. The proceedings were erroneous because the ordinary charged the jury as follows: 'The law confers upon you, and you alone, the right and power to inquire into the validity of the evidence, to weigh the evidence of witnesses and determine the issue of whether he is sane or not.'"

Defendant's counsel claim that this charge is in error because the jurors are asked to decide the issue of whether Carr is sane or insane, and that the defendant was carried into the privacy of the jury room and placed in peculiar positions and subjected to various tests that should not have been allowed. It is claimed that the jury had no right to take the defendant from the presence of the court, and did wrong in closing the doors. Another objection is made because the ordinary, over the objection of the defendant's counsel, allowed the state to produce the witness Petty, all the details of the killing and the manner in which King lost his life. It is claimed that the statement made by the witness Petty influenced the jury and should not have been allowed.

Section 9 of the petition reads: "Because of the following improper conduct on the jury's part: Directly after the jury entered the jury room they asked to have the prisoner brought in, which the judge allowed, and the door was closed after him. Inside the jury room the following improper conduct occurred: The jurors put the prisoner in a chair, tipped back at an angle of 45 degrees and let him talk to the jurors. The jurors, J. W. Goldsmith, called out to the others to catch him. Pettitioner felt the chair falling and grabbed at the arms, and the juror Goldsmith then called out, 'Hold him! Hold him!' At this point the prisoner relaxed. Upon this test the juror Goldsmith, in an interview, stated that the jury largely based its opinion on this. The petitioner's back appeared to be much bent and one of the jurors said that he noticed that it would be difficult to straighten his back. Accordingly the jury had, in the jury room, placed Carr on his face and straightened him out by manual force. The juror Goldsmith then made a point of catching his eye while on the floor, and has since stated in an interview that petitioner rolled his eyes around like a sane man. It is shown that these tests in the jury room were away from petitioner's counsel and they had no opportunity to answer them."

The petition sets forth that the back of Carr was badly bruised, and upon examination by a physician showed that he had received roughly handled. As grounds for the disqualification of Mr. Goldsmith the interview given by that gentleman is attached and made a part of the petition.

When the petition was presented to Judge Clark yesterday he issued an order that on account of the conduct and peculiarities of the case the solicitor show cause on the 24th why a certiorari should not issue.

"Fra Diavolo" Tonight.

Tonight "Fra Diavolo," the comic opera that has always been Atlanta's favorite, will be presented.

It will be a benefit for the hospital and nursery department of the exposition, and a crowded house is expected.

"Fra Diavolo" is the best known comic opera that has ever been sung in this city. F. Aldrich Libby will be in the title role, and as the bandit king he will be at his best. He will have an opportunity to display his rare baritone voice and give full scope to his acting qualities.

The committee hopes to reap a nice sum from the entertainment of the hospital and nursery department is one of the most important in the exposition and all the pecuniary aid that can be got is needed in making the department a thorough success.

The boxes for tonight are selling fast and will be occupied by the elite of the city. Manager Matthews says that at the rehearsals they "go together" better than in any of the other many rehearsals, and that they will put up a good performance.

"Fra Diavolo" will be played the rest of the week with matinee Saturday.

REV. H. H. PARKS DEAD.

One of the Oldest Landmarks of the City Passes Away.

Rev. H. H. Parks, one of the oldest landmarks of the Methodist church in Georgia, died at his home in this city at 11 o'clock last night.

For more than fifty years this devout man of God has been looked upon as a prince in Israel. Fearless in the discharge of his duty, he never failed to condemn the sinful ways of the world and to exhort his hearers to lead better and purer lives. Though bold in his bitter denunciation of evil, he was gentle and forbearing in his dealings with men who strayed away from the right path and sought to bring them back; not by harsh measures, but by preaching to them the gospel of love.

In the death of this pure and upright man the pulpit has lost one of its most eloquent tongues and the cause of religion one of its gentlest and most consecrated spirits.

At the time of his death Dr. Parks was the pastor of the Edgewood Methodist church. He was greatly beloved by his little congregation and the church is sorely bereaved in his sad death.

Only a few months ago Dr. Parks celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his wedding. The occasion was one of great joy and congratulation and many substantial tokens of love were received by the happy pair. Many fond wishes were expressed for the mutual welfare of the aged couple, and no one dreamed that in a few days the golden chain would be rent asunder.

The cause of Dr. Parks' death was bowel complaint. He had been a sufferer for quite a while and fully realized the nature of his trouble. He faced his affliction with a calm and patient fortitude and died with the peace of heaven upon his mind and spirit. He was surrounded by the members of his loving household, and death came upon him as softly as sleep.

Dr. Parks leaves a wife and several children. Mr. John Parks, of The Atlanta Journal, is one of his sons. He was seventy-two years old at the time of his death and had been in the ministry for more than fifty years.

Dr. Parks was at one time the pastor of the First Methodist church. The arrangements for the funeral have not been completed. The funeral, however, will likely take place tomorrow afternoon.

RAIN STOPPED THE RACING.

The Owner of the Vigilant Withdraws His Yacht.

Newport, R. I., August 7.—A steady rain set in this morning and spoiled what little prospect of a race there was for today. The first of the four additional days of racing arranged by Newport people in the hope of keeping the fleet and the people here.

The Venetian fete and harbor illumination and the official disbandment of the fleet last night ended the cruise proper. The expectation that the Defender and Vigilant would take part in two of the additional races—those for Thursday and Saturday—used some interest to be included in the added programme. Mr. Willard's withdrawal of Vigilant's entry and the assumption that the Defender would also withdraw destroyed most of the interest that remained. Today's race was for schooners. Entries were open until 8 o'clock a. m. The only ones received were those of the Emerald and the Marguerite. They showed no signs of getting ready at 10 o'clock. At that time the rain had increased to a heavy downpour, accompanied by thunder and lightning.

At 11:15 o'clock the race was declared off for the day. Both schooner and sloops will race tomorrow. The formal withdrawal of Mr. Willard of the Vigilant from the races of Thursday and Saturday on account of the tactics of the Defender's owner at the start yesterday caused no end of talk.

Mr. Iselin refused to be interviewed. The members of the regatta committee also declined to say anything for publication. Other yachtsmen were outspoken in criticism of Mr. Iselin's conduct. Mr. Willard and the Gould boat had all the sympathy. As the boats were entered in a friendly competition there was apparently no necessity for the action of the Defender's owner. In yachting parlance the course he pursued is called "hogging the line." It is generally admitted that should such action be taken in a race with an English boat it would result in the American boat being raced down and probably sunk. Yesterday was the second time Mr. Willard had an opportunity to sink the new Defender by merely holding on his way. On July 23d, off Sandy Hook, when the first opportunity occurred, he rounded the Vigilant up in the wind and headed away from the starting line after gun-fire. Yesterday he let the boat fall off and relinquished the windward position at the start.

In his letter of withdrawal Mr. Willard does not mention the trial races of August 20th and 24th. Whether the Vigilant will take part in them or not depends upon the action of the regatta committee and of Mr. Iselin between now and the time set for the first race.

It is Mr. Willard's intention to race, provided he obtains assurances that yachting rules and customs will be observed. He cannot obtain such assurances. Mr. Willard says it would not be fair to the Vigilant or her owner to continue racing and he does not propose to do so.

The Vigilant remained at anchor today while Mr. Willard awaits the action of the regatta committee.

Mobile Wins.

Mobile, Ala., August 7.—Mobile took the third game from Montgomery this afternoon by hitting the ball at the proper time.

Mobile released Vivian Potts, the big left fielder, this afternoon after the game and have signed in his stead Frank Hill, who was with the Atlanta team in games, where he played good ball. He will join the team in Evansville, for which place the locals leave at midnight tonight. Mobile also has lines out for Third Baseman John Kelly.

KILLING NEAR BAINBRIDGE.

W. L. Ingram Shoots and Instantly Kills John Fewell.

Savannah, Ga., August 7.—A special to The Morning News from Bainbridge, Ga., says: "Yesterday, in the southeastern portion of this county, W. L. Ingram shot and instantly killed John Fewell, Fewell, who was already a married man with a family, ran away with and married Ingram's daughter, claiming that he had a divorce from his wife. Ingram, who was very much enraged at the marriage, some time afterward went to Quincy and there began abusing him in a very ugly manner, stating to him at the same time that if he (Ingram) ever mentioned the matter to him again he would kill him. Ingram being unarmed left the place. Yesterday morning they met on the public road and the killing occurred. Ingram claims he acted in self-defense."

HELD IN QUARANTINE

The Georgia Negroes Corralled at Eagle Pass, Texas.

SMALLPOX IS RAGING AMONG THEM

"Peg" Williams Returns and Tells of Their Deploable Condition. Forty Have Already Died.

Nearly six hundred Georgia negroes are quarantined at Eagle Pass, Tex. "Peg" Williams has just returned from his trip to Texas and Mexico, where he went to rescue and bring back to their homes in this state the unfortunate negroes that he carried to Mexico last year.

He found the negroes in a rather deplorable condition. Nearly all of them were under the attack of smallpox, which was scattered among the colored colonists, and some of them were down with the fell disease.

Williams was, of course, prevented from carrying out his purpose concerning the negroes. He could see but few of them and the large majority of them could not be freed on account of the health regulations concerning them.

He spent about three days in the city and found that, barring the raging disease among the negroes, their condition was not so bad as has been reported.

"About forty of the negroes have died," said Mr. Williams yesterday. "The total number of negroes in the colony which I started there was 615. Nearly all of them are at Eagle Pass now. Those who still remain in Mexico are coming over every day, and I have about fifteen strong every day, and I have been in the ministry for more than fifty years."

Dr. Parks was at one time the pastor of the First Methodist church. The arrangements for the funeral have not been completed. The funeral, however, will likely take place tomorrow afternoon.

The negroes had a rather unpleasant time of it in Mexico. They didn't understand the Mexicans. They were not suited to the climate of Mexico. They could not get the sort of food they had been used to. The water was vile.

The worst part of it all was the way the negroes were done out of their crops this year. They got nothing out of their work. They were restless and wanted to come back to their homes in Georgia. They were the happiest lot of negroes you ever saw when they caught sight of the Rio Grande river, and when they set foot on our soil once more they were overjoyed.

They were not anxious to come back to Georgia. Many of them are satisfied to remain in Texas. They can get work there easily just as soon as they are set free from quarantine. Then they will be in just as good a position as they were before they left Georgia.

"The disease that is raging among them is not very deadly. The percentage of deaths among them is not nearly so great as it usually is during periods of smallpox. Most of them recover. The disease will run its course in a few weeks, the negroes will be set free, they will get work in Texas and come back to Georgia."

There will not be a negro left in the colony in Mexico, however, and the indications are that the colonizing of negroes in President Diaz's country has ended for many years to come. About forty of the negroes now in quarantine at Eagle Pass are from Griffin, Ga.

DR. SALMON TALKS.

No Danger of an Epidemic of Texas Fever Among Cattle.

Washington, August 7.—Dr. Salmon, chief of the bureau of animal industry, when asked in regard to a reported outbreak of Texas fever in Warren county, Tennessee, stated that the department had no advice of the existence of the disease at that place. He added that the county named was very far from the boundary line of the Texas fever district, and there is more or less movement of cattle for short distances across the line, which leads to local outbreaks of very limited extent and of no consequence to the country at large. The cattle in Texas fever districts are covered with a species of tick, which they distribute when they are moved outside of the district, and this tick produces the disease in animals which are accustomed to its attacks. The disease, however, does not spread from one susceptible animal to another and is consequently self-limited.

Inspectors guard the principal railroads and the large stock yards, so that it is impossible for any of these cattle to be moved from the infected districts into the country, except in isolated cases, near the boundary line of the infected district, similar to that which is now reported from Tennessee.

WATCHING THE JASON.

United States Officials Have an Eye on British Steamer.

Jacksonville, Fla., August 7.—The British steamer Jason was under surveillance all of today by United States custom officials and the United States patrol boat Boutwell, which started in pursuit of the vessel and anchored 100 yards south of the steamer. The Spanish detectives also watched the vessel. Nine passengers went aboard and the trunks of each were examined from the Boutwell. The Jason is bound for Kingston, Jamaica, and will carry material for 50,000 orange boxes for the Boston Fruit Company which covered the Jamaica orange crop and was to be used for the purpose of orange groves of the island just after the Florida freeze. What added to the suspicions of people was the presence in town of N. B. Borden, the reported agent of the Jason. Borden declared that he knew nothing of the vessel. The patrol boat Boutwell while in port examined every American cargo from stern to stem, but found no arms nor ammunition, nor in fact anything suspicious.

Know Nothing of a Shortage.

Washington, August 7.—Postoffice officials know nothing of the reported shortage of mail in the accounts of the late legislator Sullivan, of Covington, Ga., who committed suicide at Huntersville, N. C. Their only information in the matter is that he committed suicide and that the postoffice inspector in the Covington district telegraphed the department asking for the names of the late postmaster's bondsmen, the amount of bond, etc., which information was being inspected the accounts of the deceased legislator and in putting the office under charge of the proper people pending the appointment of a successor.

TO TRY THE COURTS

Ladies Working in Mrs. Nobles's Behalf Want a New Trial.

WILL EMPLOY A GOOD ATTORNEY

They Are Now Raising Funds for That Purpose—Appeal to the Governor the Last Resort.

The people of Georgia are watching with interest the work of the ladies in behalf of Mrs. Nobles, the condemned murderess.

The ladies have altered their course to a certain extent and instead of presenting the petition that is being signed all over the state they propose to try for a new trial and have the sentence reversed by the courts.

Falling in this they will present the petition as a last resort.

"One reason we decided to try to get her a new trial," said one of Atlanta's most prominent ladies, who is actively interested in the fate of the condemned woman, "is because the people of Twiggs county are so bitter against Mrs. Nobles that we fear it will have weight. One thing is certain, we are not going to stop work because the people of one county want this poor woman hanged, and if the sentence is not reversed by the courts we will present one of the strongest petitions to the governor that has ever been got up."

The ladies who are interested in the case throughout the state have begun work getting up money with which to pay the attorneys who will be engaged in behalf of the defendant. Subscriptions of $1 are being asked for.

A letter from Macon about the case says that $100 can be raised there to secure proper counsel. The ladies of Macon are as much interested as those in Atlanta in the case and several prominent ladies of that city have visited Mrs. Nobles at the jail.

The very best criminal counsel in the state is to be secured to defend Mrs. Nobles, and the ladies who are securing the counsel will decide in a few days whom they will select.

An "extraordinary motion" for a new trial is to be made. One ground for a new trial is that the defendant is a pauper and that she was abandoned by her counsel, thereby being denied the constitutional grounds of proper defense.

The lawyer will argue in the new trial, if such is granted, that Mrs. Nobles has a touch of insanity through heredity. Her mother died a raving maniac in the asylum and several in her family have shown symptoms of insanity, and naturally she would inherit this disease.

Mrs. Nobles is held in the Macon jail and was for a time in a raving condition and was kept in the straight jacket for several days. Her condition now is much better, that is, she is not raving, but she sits motionless in her cell and seems unconscious of her crime or fate.

The motion for a new trial will be heard in Twiggs county, and if that court refuses to grant a new one it will be carried to the supreme court. The attorneys will petition for a new trial either Saturday or Monday, and it will, of course, delay the execution for several weeks at the shortest.

The case is causing widespread interest. The Macon Evening News in an editorial a few days ago criticizes the counsel appointed by the judge to represent Mrs. Nobles. It censures the counsel for not asking for a new trial and for abandoning the defendant because she was a pauper.

Three hundred dollars will be raised by the ladies to conduct the new trial. The petition, in the meantime, will be kept in circulation, and if the supreme court refuses to reverse the decision of the lower court then the governor will be appealed to.

THE VOTE WAS A TIE.
The Little Town of Hapeville is an interesting place.

The mayor's chair in Hapeville, the delightful little suburb ten miles out on the Central railroad, is vacant, and though an election has been held, in which two of the most prominent young men of the town were candidates, ex-Mayor Bloodworth's successor has not been appointed.

Several days ago Mayor F. D. Bloodworth resigned his official position and moved his residence to Savannah, where he will in future be identified with the cotton business of that place. When his resignation was accepted by the council that body issued a call for an election in order that his successor might be duly elected and assume the reins of government that had been released by Mayor Bloodworth.

As soon as the call for the meeting was made, Mr. W. C. Lowe, a prominent business man of Hapeville, announced that he would be a candidate for election to the position just made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Bloodworth.

A day or two before the election was to occur Mr. S. H. Hape, Jr., the son of Dr. Samuel Hape, was announced by his friends and the race between the two gentlemen waxed warm. The election was the subject upon which all the residents of the village were interested in, and it was the talk of the town. Hapeville has about fifty qualified voters, but out of this number only thirty-three were registered. And when the election was held last Tuesday only twenty-six votes were polled—resulting in a tie. Both candidates received just thirteen votes each, and as both cannot occupy the chair at once, the election has been called off and a new election will be called by the council. This would have been done last night, but a quorum was not present and the council adjourned until next Tuesday night.

Until another election is held the mayor's chair will be vacant and the evil deed of Hapeville will be tried by a member from the general council.

Concerning Prices At Present They Are No Barrier

Lower than ever known. How long will they remain so? That's your question. Ours to keep them as low as possible. But trade laws are greater than we are. Often we can by special effort avert an advance. That, however, has limits.

The Grand Fact Is

Prices are down. Wise people will buy freely for present and future needs. What you will save depends upon how and where you buy. Come to

HARRY FRANK'S "IMPERIAL"

The Decatur Street Playhouse Will Be Completed in a Few Weeks.

Harry Frank's new playhouse, the Imperial, will be ready for occupancy in a few weeks. The playhouse has been planned by those who have been shown through the place can have an idea of the work that has been done.

The building has been remodeled, and when completed it will be four stories high, with one of the largest roof gardens in the south. The entire roof will be converted into one vast garden, complete with stage and other buildings, and the garden will be lighted with gas and electric lights, and will be made cool with electric fans. It will be one of the most delightful places in the city in which to spend an evening.

The playhouse is being built in the rear of the Decatur street building, and will be entered from Decatur street, Edgewood avenue and Pryor street. The stage will be large and all the decorative work will be of the best character and design. The seating capacity of the house will be 1,200, and the gallery will seat a large number in addition to this. The theater will be reached by an elevator, which will run from the ground floor to the roof garden.

In connection with the theater will be a smoking room, a reading room, and a billiard room. The theater will be a permanent playhouse.

Real Estate Agent, No. 14 Wall Street, Kimball House.

$5,000 will buy one of the prettiest homes on Jackson street. The house has six large rooms and is on a beautiful shady lot 50x150 feet. Every convenience, including stable, $6,000 for a six-room house on the best place in the city. The house is well built and cost over $5,000. You cannot duplicate this place under $10,000. If you have any idea of buying a cheap north-side home don't miss this chance.

I have a new eight-room house on St. Charles avenue, lot 50x200, that I can sell for $6,000. This street has been built up wonderfully and the next twelve months and so situated as to get full benefit of all improvements now being made for its exploitation. The property has a fine prospect for a rapid enhancement of value.

I have a number of beautiful vacant lots in all parts of the city that I can sell at a bargain.

I am always prepared to show all kinds of property.
